Severe Weather Outlook Monday, November 16, 2020

Hazardous Weather

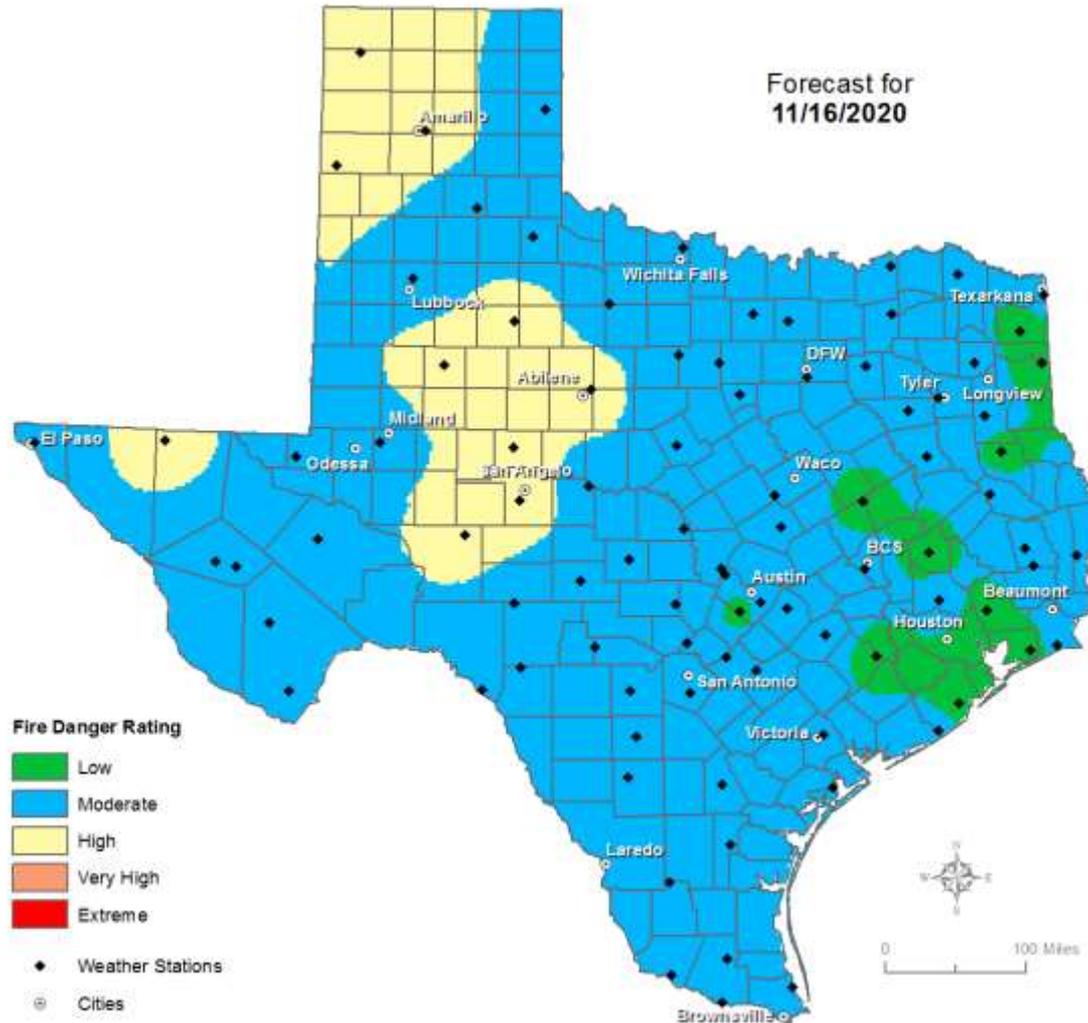

Mostly sunny skies will allow high temperatures to increase into the 60s and 70s this afternoon. Variable winds will become more southerly through the day with speeds less than 10 mph. Patchy frost will be possible again tonight, especially for rural, sheltered and low-lying areas.

Minor coastal flooding will be possible this evening. A Coastal Flood Advisory is in effect from 4 PM to midnight. The greatest potential for coastal flooding will be associated with high tide, occurring around 6:24 PM. Water run-up may reach the dunes along narrow beaches. Walking or driving along the beach will be difficult or not possible.
